2023 North Dakota State of Technology Publication

Audience

The North Dakota State of Technology publication has been established as the premier resource for technology industry information in the areas of economic impact, infrastructure, workforce, business climate, and industry trends. It has become the go-to publication for state policy makers focused on expanding the industry, economic developers looking to attract and expand businesses, industry professionals seeking to attract and retain employees, and secondary and postsecondary educators shaping the future of information technology curriculum.

Circulation

The publication will be distributed to business, government and education leaders statewide and will also be distributed with the Greater North Dakota Chamber’s 2023 Winter Business Report, which goes out in January 2023.
